Ryan Rindone is originally from North Carolina, and attended North Carolina State University for undergraduate and graduate school. An avid fisherman, Rindone enjoys pursuing inshore and offshore game via both hook and line and pole-spearing on scuba. Rindone's research interests include fisheries stock assessments, coastal and estuarine habitat assessment, marine fisheries biology and ecology, and marine benthic ecology.